'Weird Whinny" Through Megaphone Follows Each Shot at French Trenches.

STORY IS QUIETLY TOLD AT CAFE TERRASSE TABLE

'Something in the Voice" Which Created Mirth Among Comrades of Men Who Suffered.

BY HERBERT COREY.

(Copyright, 1915.) PARIS. October 6 .- No doubt mon sieur would regard it incredible. It is not in the French nature, one comprehends, to laugh at the suffering of comrade. But whenever the laughing sniper gave out that weird whinny through his megaphone the whole trench would laugh with him. "Hysteria, perhaps," he said, thought-"Some of the men caught their opened fire with rifle and mitrailleuse upon the sector within which we knew the sniper had taken cover. It kept him in his burrow. Under cover of the openings in the wires and around the gnarled roots of trees in the darkness. Sometimes my outstretched hand fell upon a bit of cloth and I drew myself away. Then the firing stopped and I laid there silent, my rifle thrust out before me. I heard a noise—but a little noise—and at my gun's end a heavy body seemed to take form from the night. And so I fired.

"Then I, too, laughed loudly in the darkness."

SHIPS UNDER U. S. FLAG

LONDON, October 26 .- The British or der in council, gazetted yesterday, abrogating observance of article 57 of the declaration of London, which provides that the neutral or enemy character of vessel is determined by the flag she is entitled to fly, is intended to arrest the proceedings of a large number of ves els which are trading under neutral flags, but in reality are owned wholly or in part by Germans.

The Anglo-American doctrine now re instated by reason of the abrogation of article 57 of the declaration of London considers the nationality of owners and permits the condemnation of a ves sel if it is proved a subject of an enemy country has an interest in it.

Subject to Condemnation.

By this reversion to the old prize law vessel in which such an enemy subject may have even a part interest may any other route than the New Haven, be condemned and disposed of, either by the sale of the enemy subject' tunity to tell the jury how he saved share to the neutral co-owners, or the tunity to tell the jury how he saved himself from being ousted as second vice president of the road by the late J. P. Morgan.

Says Trouble Arose.

Trouble had arisen between the New York Central and the New Haven over traffic, and C. P. Clark, then president of the New Haven, told Mellen that Mr. Morgan, who was a director of both and the New Haven, told Mellen that Mr. Morgan, who was a director of both and the New Haven, the held foremeted it and

It was planned to give the entire amount collected on the grounds to the government bandsmen as a token of the city's appreciation of the public concerts they have been giving in the parks during the past ten years. Mr. Gompers said that in spite of the war in Europe and the great difficulty of communication, labor leaders everywhere were keeping in touch with one another and the sentiments that animate one another everywhere.

A report was widely circulated in official circles that Mr. Gompers laid before the President information of plans of German agents to tie up munitions shipments to the allies. Mr. Gompers, however, flatly refused to tell about his visit, further than to say he had discussed legislative -questions with today that contributions to the fund will be received all this week.
